The Catholic Clergy Makes a Bold Stand for High License. BALTIMORE (Md.), November 17th.—An immense mass meeting under Catholi auspices was held in the Academy of Musi to-night for the purpose of advancing high license. The meeting was presided over by Cardinal Gibbons, and upon the stage were Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul, Minn., Bishop Vertue of England, Monsignor McColgan and a large number of priests. In opening the meeting, Cardinal Gib-cons said: "I appear before this meeting to-night not as a churchman, but as a private citizen looking for the welfare of my native city. The high license movement i for the laboring man's benefit, and it must be and shall be successful." [Applause.]
Speeches were made by Rev. James Nugent of England, Rev. Dr. Cleary of Wisconsin, the Archbishop of St. Paul and Bishop Keane. The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That high license is the only feasible and peaceful means of exterminating the deluge of vices and crimes of which drunkenness is the fruitful source. The license should be put so high as to make it practically prohibitory, as regards the multitude of low saloons, and certain restrictions should be enacted as to time and place of sale. The number of saloons in any one radius should be limited by statute, and should not be allowed near churches or schools. License should be given only to persons of tried character. sons of tried character.

first reported. That a revolution in favor of a republic has been undertaken is cer tain, but just how far it has been successful remains a question of uncertainty. That the people have received the move ment in practical quietude may be consid ered ominous for the Emperor. Brazil has long been considered ripe for a change of government, and it is therefore not improbable that the absence of some of the leading men of the army, navy and political circles has been seized upon and a republic declared. There is some substantial reason for believing that the Emperor Dom Pedro will not strenuously oppose the revolutionists. He has been known as the most liberal monarch of the earth, a man who recognized the ability of the people to rule, the unwisdom of an arbiwarlike people, and least of all is Dom Pedro a warrior. It is wholly unlikely that he will call to arms for the maintenance of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne of his throne. He is a man whose modest of his throne of ambitions have all been accomplished, and whose attachment to the nation is unquestioned. If, therefore, it turns out that the revolution, which appears to have been a bloodless one, is acquiesced in by the people, he will probably gracefully submit and retire upon his immense private fortune to the seclusion of the life of a citizen of the republic or else emigrate to Portugal and pass the remainder of his days in the interests of the revolutionists, and that the revolt of Fonseca may be resisted, but that Dom Pedro is the last of monarchs in Brazil may be accepted as a certainty. Some of our contemporaries, and

Presently the dog in his gyrations ventured too near the Salvationist. Quick as a flash the drum-stick deserted the drum and landed with a dull, sickening thud upon the unfortunate canine's cranium. With one wild, heartrendering velp and a subsequent shudder, animal keeled over upon the cobbles "Ha! ha! ha!" hoarsely laughed the slayer demoniacally, "would that ye were the last of your cursed breed. Ha! ha!

And the army walked along. But the end was not yet. Mr. Wertheim, who had raised the dog from puphood, was fairly beside himself with rage, as was the rest of his household, when the news of the pet's cruel murder reached him. A lynching party was at first organized, but cooler heads frowned down the idea. It was a case for the law. Accordingly, Mr. Wertheim hied himself to the Police Station, swore out a warrant for the slayer's arrest, and the latter now languishes in a dungeon cell.

Since the State Fair Sacramento has had its population augmented by the presence of "Yorkey" Monahan, a hack driver by occupation and a well-known character in police circles in San Francisco. Scarcely a week passed in the metropolis that "Yorkey's" name was not entered upon the City Prison register for some infraction of the law-principally fighting. Since his adthis city, however, he has asionished all who knew him by keeping out of trouble. Yesterday morning, though, the old desire came upon him, and he went on a still hunt for gore. He got it. He happened to drop into a new K-street dive kept by a woman, and insisted upon making love to a waiter girl. The latter demonstrated her disapproval by smashing a beer mug on "Yorkey's" head, laying bare the Colonel Kewen considered the idea an excellent one, and at once set about to bring the matter to a focus. He wrote to Lieutenant Berry, assuring the latter that Sacramento would be delighted to receive the old battery, and suggested the Protestant Ornban Asylum as the institution for nuch curiosity.

following reply from Lieutenant Berry:

Colonel Kewen, Assistant Adjutant-General, Sactamento—Dear Sir: Battery A, Second Regiment, N. G. C., desires to return to you its sincere thanks for the kind and generous interest you have taken in its behalf to do good towards the charitable institution which you have selected. I can assure you that it meets with the full approval and appreciation of Battery A, for if any institution needs assistance from any charitably-disposed organization, that institution above all others is an orphan home, and we fully concur and deeply appreciate your selection in this matter, and are glad to know that the old Battery is the first organization in the National Guard to offer its services for the benefit of a charitable institution. The Battery returns to you their thanks for the compliments bestowed upon them.

The Battery will go to Sacramento Saturday, December 7th, and give an exhibition drill and dance for the benefit of the Orphan's Home at Sacramento. The matter of hall is left with you—Armory or Pavilion. The time of departure from this city will be 4:30 P. M. That would give time to reach Sacramento to commence the drill at 9 P. M., and the dance immediately afterwards.

SUTTER'S FORT.

Belongs to the City Already. EDS. RECORD-UNION: As the time has than one-third, and possibly not more than | tain Hall's attention to the published scores one-fourth, of it on the land of Mr. Mer-rill. Now, so much of that building as is with him. on the street belongs to the city, and not to Mr. Merrill. My proposition will be to take the old fort down and erect out of the material in it a monument in the center of Twentre exempt. the material in it a monument in the center of Twenty-seventh street, within a few feet of where the fort now stands. It is but reasonable to suppose that Mr. Merrill will either give or sell for a nominal sum the portion of the building that belongs to him. I cannot imagine that he would refuse the days between the several and the individual who perhaps could not average 350 in one hundred shots is published as being a crack shot, and he gets a little cheap notoriety in military circles that does not belong to him.

I will not here attempt to give a plan of the monument, but I think a very unique and attractive structure could be built out successive misses charged up to him, is of that old material. There is to my mind adorned with a gold bar of which he is several reasons why this would be the best very proud. thing to do under the circumstances.

First—The building, if preserved at all, would have to be repaired to such an extent as to make it almost a new building, as everybody knows it is in a very dilapidated and decaying condition, and will soon crumble down if large repairs are not made on it. Putting the material into another shape would not destroy its identity much if any) more than would the needed re-Second—The monument would stand almost on the identical spot of the old fort—certainly within the limits of the conse-

the Pioneers, so many of whom were shel-tered, fed, and provided for in the hours of their sad need.

Third—This plan would make a very large saving. Even if the land could be bought at a reasonable figure, it would cost a large sum to fix up the grounds so as to misleading scores the average militiamen make them look respectable. The old Burns slough, running as it does through some of the 'crack shots' will be watched both blocks, cuts them into a very awkward shape. One of the blocks is so badly cut that it would be impossible to get one lot 40x160 in the whole block that would crated ground so sacred in the memories of

be fit to build on without filling up the slough portion, which would probably be more than half the lot, and the other block is not much better, and we all know that he slough is very deep at that particular I do not believe that slough could be filled up and the grounds leveled and fixed up in good shape ready for planting short of $15,000 to $20,000. Then the grounds would have to be planted and cared for continually, which would entail a heavy annual expense for all time. And who is to foot the bills? The city will have enough to do if she will only improve and take care of the numerous squares and parks that she now has on her hands.

If my plan was adopted it would cost but little (if indeed, any), more than to properly repair the old fort where it now tands, and then the expense is at an end, except, possibly, to make some trifling repairs perhaps once in a decade. I could make many other suggestions as to the style or architecture of the monument, how the means could be raised, etc., but I will wait and see if this plan is concurred n by others before boring your readers further. But there is one thing certain, we have got to get a move on us and do something soon, or the street will be put through (as it certainly ought to be), and the longcherished old relic so dear to our pioneer fathers will be blotted out, and the gratiude of Californians made a hiss and byword all over the Union.

AMUSEMENTS. At the Metropolitan Theater this evening the McNeill Club will give the long expected operatic performance which has engaged its attention for some months. The beautiful opera "The Chimes of Normandy" has been chosen, and no better election could be made, for the music, while not difficult, is of the character that most pleases a general audience. The club will be under the same director as before and will be supported by a good orchestra and a large number of female singers. Every attention, we are assured, has been given to details and costumery and stage ittings and dramatic effects. The clu and its auxiliary aids have rehearsed the opera long and studiously and there is every reason to expect a performance of merit. Seats are on sale at Houghton's book store and to-day a reserve sheet for the gallery will be opened. No extra charge for reserved seats. Real Estate Auctions. On Wednesday next Bell & Co., will sell

THE BEST GRADES.

The aim in Men's Clothing should be simplicity, perfection of cut, and a style that will make most of the advantages and defects of the figure.

The best grade of Ready-made Clothing of today is cut and designed on exactly this principle. It is shaped after perfect models, and all parts are in exact proportion. It shows to the best possible advantage a good physique, and covers up in a large degree the defects of a bad one. Some of the best talent in the country is employed in its creation. Not a few New York manufacturers pay their head cutters salaries ranging from four to seven thousand dollars a year. It is clothing of this superlative sort which abounds here at prices ranging from $15 to $30. Some of the cloths are fine imported stuffs-in handsome checks and plaids.
